Gen. Custer's Last Battle.

MARCHING TO THE SCENE OF CARNAGE.

The morning of the 26th brought to the mouth of the Big Horn the intelligence, communicated by three badly frightened Crow scouts, of the battle of the previous day and its results. The story was not credited because it was not expected that an attack would be made earlier than the 27th, and chiefly because no one could believe that a force such as Custer commanded could have met with disaster. Still, the report was in no way disregarded. All day long the toilsome march was plied, and every eye was bent upon a cloud of smoke resting over the hill, which was hailed as a sign that Custer was successful and fired the village. It was only when night was falling that the weary troops lay down on their arms. The infantry had marched twenty-nine miles. The march of the next morning revealed, at every step, some evidence of the conflict which had taken place two days before. An an early hour the head of the column entered a plain half-a-mile wide, bordering the left bank of the Little Big Horn, where had recently been an immense Indian village, extending three miles along the stream, and where were still standing funeral lodges, with horses slaughtered around them and containing the bodies of nine chiefs. The ground was strewn everywhere with carcasses of horses, cavalry equipments, besides buffalo robes, packages of dried meat, and weapons and utensils belonging to the Indians. On this part of the field was found the clothing of Lieuts. Sturges and Porter pierced with bullets and a blood-stained gauntlet belonging to Colonel Yates. Further on were found bodies of men, among whom were recognized Lieut. McIntosh, the interpreter from Fort Rice, and Reynolds, the guide.

RELIEVING MAJOR RENO.

Just then a breathless scout arrived with the intelligence that Major Reno, with a remnant of the Seventh Cavalry, was entrenched on a bluff near by waiting for relief. The command pushed rapidly on, and soon came in sight of a group surrounding a cavalry guard upon a lofty eminence on the right bank of the river. Gen. Terry forded the stream, accompanied by a small party, and rode to the spot. All the way the slopes were dotted with the bodies of men and horses. The General approached, and the men swarmed out of the works and greeted him with hearty and repeated cheers. Within was found Reno, with the remains of seven companies of the regiment, and the following-named officers, all of whom are unhurt: Cols. Benteen and Wier; Capts. Felix, Maylan and McDougal; Lieuts. Godfrey, Mathey, Gibson, Dernded, Edgerly, Wallace, Varnum and Hare. In the centre of the enclosure was a depression in the surface, in which the wounded were sheltered, covered with canvas. Reno's command had been fighting from Sunday noon, the 25th, until the night of the 26th, when Terry's arrival caused the Indians to retire. Up to this time Reno and those with him were in complete ignorance of the fate of the other five companies, which had been separated from them on the 25th to make an attack, under Custer, on the village at another point.

ON THE FIELD WHERE CUSTER FELL.

While preparations were being made for the removal of the wounded, a party was sent on Custer's trail to look for traces of his command. They found awaiting them a sight fit to appal the stoutest heart. At a point about three miles down the right bank of the stream Custer had evidently attempted to ford and attack the villages from the fort. The trail was found to lead back up to the bluffs, and to the northward as if the troops had been repulsed and compelled to retreat, and at the same time had been cut off from regaining the forces under Reno. The bluffs along the right bank come sharply down to the water, and are interspersed by numerous ravines. All along the slopes and ridges and in the ravines, they lay as they had fought, line behind line, showing where defensive positions had been successively taken up and held till none were left to fight. Then huddled in a narrow compass, horses and men were piled promiscuously. At the highest point of the ridge lay Custer, surrounded by a chosen band. Here were his two brothers and his nephew, Mr. Reed, Cols. Yates and Cooke, and Capt. Smith, all lying in a circle of a few yards, their horses beside them. Here behind Yates' company the last stand had been made, and here one after another these last survivors of Custer's had met their death. The companies had successively thrown themselves across the path of the advancing enemy, and had been annihilated. Not a man has escaped to tell the tale, but it was inscribed on the surface of the barren hills in language more eloquent than words. Two hundred and sixty-one bodies have been buried from Custer's and Reno's commands. The last one found was that of Mr. Kellogg, correspondent of the Bismark Tribune, and also, I believe, of the New York Herald.

The following are the names of the officers whose remains are recoguized: General Custer, Col. Keogh, Col. Yates, Col. Custer, Col. Cooke, Capt. Smith, Lieut. McIntosh, Lieut. Calhoun, Lieut. Hodgeson and Lieut. Reilly. All of these belong to the Seventh Cavalry. Lieut. Crittenden, of the Twentieth Infantry was serving temporarily with the regiment. Lieuts. Porter, Sturges and Harrington, and Assistant-Surgeon Lord are reported missing, as their remains were not recognized; but there is small ground to hope that any of them survived, as it is obvious that the troops were completely surrounded by a force of ten times their number.

HOW RENO ESCAPED.

The history of Reno's operations comprises all that is now known of this sanguinary affair. It seems that Custer, with eight companies, reached the river in the forenoon of the 25th, having marched continuously all the previous day and night. Seeing the upper or southern extremity of the village, and probably underestimating its extent, he ordered Reno to ford the river and charge the village with three companies, while he, with five companies, moved down the right bank and behind the bluff to make a similar attack at the other end. Reno made his charge, but, finding that he was dealing with a force many times his own numbers, dismounted his men and sought shelter in the timber which fringed the river bank. The position appearing to him untenable, he remounted and cut his way to the river, forded under a murderous fire, and gained the bluff where he was subsequently found. Here he was afterward joined by Col. Benteen with three companies, which had just reached the field, and by Capt. McDougal with his company and the pack mules. The position was immediately after completely invested by the Indians, who for more than twenty-four hours allowed the garrison no rest, and inflicted severe loss. But for the timely arrival of relief, the command would have been cut off to a man. The number saved with Reno was 329, including 51 wounded. The loss among the Indians was probably considerable, as bodies have been found in every direction, and they left behind only a small portion of their dead.

We remained nearly two days at the scene of this disaster to bury the dead and prepare for transporting the wounded to a place of safety. The neighboring country was still full of scattering bands of Indians watching our movements, and, doubtless, prepared to take advantage of any want of vigilance. To add to the number of their victims a species of rude horse litter was constructed of poles and strips of hide, and on these the disabled were carried twenty miles to the forks of the Big Horn, where they were placed on board the steamer.

THE CAUSE OF THE CALAMITY.

In closing my narrative of this affair, in certain respects the most remarkable in modern history, I purposely refrain from comment. The naked facts, so far as they are known, must guide your readers to a conclusion as to the cause of the calamity. Information derived from many sources, including of course the observations of officers engaged in the battle, lead to the conclusion that 2,500 or 3,000 Indians composed the fighting force arrayed against Custer and his 600. Still these were odds which any officer of the Seventh Cavalry would have unhesitatingly accepted for his regiment under any ordinary circumstances of Indian warfare. General Gibbon's cavalry followed the Indians for about ten miles, and ascertained that they had moved to the south and west by several trails. A good deal of property had been thrown away by them to lighten their march, and was found scattered for many miles over the prairie. Many of their dead were also discovered secreted in ravines a long distance from the battlefield. Among them were Arapahoes and Cheyennes as well as Sioux.

How to Treat Sunstroke.

The report of the Sanitary Committee of the New York Board of Health upon sunstroke says:

"Sunstroke is caused by excessive heat, and especially if the weather is 'muggy.' It is more apt to occur on the second, third or fourth day of a heated term than on the first. Loss of sleep, worry, excitement, close sleeping rooms, debility and abuse of stimulants predispose. It is much more apt to attack those working in the sun, and especially between the hours of 11 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. On hot days wear thin clothing. Have as cool sleeping-rooms as possible. Avoid loss of sleep and all unnecessary fatigue. If working indoors and where there is artificial heat see that the room is well ventilated.

"If working in the sun wear a light hat (not black, as it absorbs heat) and put inside of it on the head a wet cloth or a large green leaf; frequently lift the hat from the head and see that the cloth is wet. Do not check perspiration, but drink what water you need to keep it up, as perspiration prevents the body from being over-heated. Have wherever possible an additional shade, as a thin umbrella, when walking, a canvas or board cover when working in the sun. When much fatigued do not go to work, or be excused from work, particularly after 11 o'clock in the morning on very hot days, especially if the work is in the sun. If a feeling of fatigue, dizziness, headache or exhaustion occurs cease work immediately, lie down in a shady and cool place, apply cold cloths to and pour cold water over the head and neck. If anyone is overcome by the heat give the person cool drinks of water or cold black tea or coffee, if able to swallow. If the skin is hot and dry, sponge with or pour cold water over the body and limbs, and apply to the head pounded ice wrapped in a towel or other cloth. If there is no ice at hand keep a cold cloth on the head, and pour cold water on it as well as on the body.

"If the person is pale, very faint, and pulse feeble, let him inhale ammonia for a few seconds, or give him a teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia (hartshorn) in two tablespoonsful of water with a little sugar."

BOTH SALARY-GRABBERS.—The Cleveland Plaindealer, the leading Republican journal of Northern Ohio, says:

"Hayes was a member of Congress in 1866, when the salary of Congressmen was raised from $3,000 to $5,000 by being meanly tacked on the soldiers' Bounty bill. This was worse than the back pay grab, for that was put through on its merits in the House. Gov. Hayes, then a member, took the back pay, and he drew the pay up to the time his successor took his seat. When he came before the people for re-election, General Henry B. Banning, now in Congress, beat him 1,000 votes in a district heretofore strongly Republican. He was then repudiated for his unfaithfulness to his trust, in putting his hands in the treasury and taking money that he was bound to guard against all speculations."

The same paper also says: Gen. Hawley says Wheeler, of N. Y., candidate for Vice-President, is 'broad jawed' and he is also a salary-grabber too! William A. Wheeler, was a member of Congress, and on the 3d of March, 1873, he voted for the back pay steal.

PROCTOR KNOTT GUNNING FOR GRANT.—Proctor Knott will begin a full investigation of this matter on Wednesday. One of the reasons given by the President for the removal of Yaryan, was that the latter had caused the discharge of Wm. B. Moore, an old soldier and an old friend of Grant's. It will be shown up before Knott's Committee, by unmistakable documentary evidence, that Moore had been connected in a most disreputable way with General Babcock, and that he has figured in many a disgraceful transaction. The publication of his second-hand heresay evidence was procured through the White House, and is stigmatized by McCary, a Republican, as a breach of trust. Growing out of this singularly indiscreet capitulation of Grant to the whisky "ring" will come some most sensational results. The perfect hypocrisy of the statement "Let no guilty man escape" will be shown, as well as the close complicity of Grant with the whisky "ring." Proctor Knott says that enough has been already shown him to indicate that after the testimony of Bristow and Wilson an impeachment of the President will be fully warranted. Yet he says that he does not propose to present articles, but will so report the case to the House that the entire country will see that an impeachment will be possible.

Hayes and the Back-Pay Steal.

The truth is out at last. The Radical candidate for the Presidency is one of the back-pay grabbers in Congress. One of his chief partisans in the Press, the New York Tribune, admits this unequivocally, in answer to the inquiry of a correspondent.

We give the inquiry and the Tribune's confession in full:

"GOV. HAYES'S RECORD ON SALARY GRABS.

To the Editor of the Tribune:—SIR: I have heard the assertion that Mr. Hayes voted for the "Salary Grab," took the money, and kept it. Will you please inform me if such is the fact. REPUBLICAN.

NEW YORK, June 26th, 1876.

["Mr. Hayes was a member of the House of Representatives when the XXXIXth Congress passed, in 1866, an Appropriation Bill increasing the pay of Congressmen from the rate of $3,000 to $5,000 a year. On the three occasions when the Bill was before the House he voted in opposition to its passage. Every member of that Congress drew afterward the pay voted. The XLIId Congress passed in 1873 the Act usually known as the "Salary Grab," raising the rate of salary from $5,000 to $7,000 yearly. Mr. Hayes was not a member of this Congress.—Ed.]"

The italics are ours.—ED. EXAMINER.

The Tribune says Hayes was a member of the 39th Congress, which voted itself back-pay at the rate of $2,000 a year. As the Tribune also says, "Every member of that Congress drew the back-pay," this of course included the high-minded Hayes, now Radical candidate for the Presidency. What the 42d Congress did has nothing to do with it. Most of the back-pay grabbers of that Congress were left at home in the elections of 1874. The Tribune's plea for Hayes that all the rest of them in the 39th Congress took the back-pay shows how ready the Tribune is to help Hayes, but does not mend matters for Hayes. He happens to be the only one of that set of patriots who is a candidate for the Presidency.

The fact that he voted against the Bill three times makes his case all the worse. He knew it was wrong, and yet he took his share in the grab. One who justified the plunder by his vote, and then took the money, was vastly more manly and respectable than the Radical candidate for the Chief Magistracy, who paltered with his conscience by voting against the scheme and then pocketing his share of the spoils.

The other day the Call-Bulletin made an elaborate effort to deny this gross misconduct of Hayes. A few remarks now from that quarter are in order.—S. F. Examiner.

A SCHOOL IN THE WOODS.—The American Agriculturist tells of a new school which is about to be opened. To most farmers' boys the idea that any boy can injure himself by study may be new, yet in the hot-bed life of cities we find boys, never at best very strong, who are actually ruining themselves for life, by too close application to study, and their brains are crammed and overworked, while their bodies are neglected, as if of very little consequence. Such a treatment results in long, lank, small-limbed and flat-chested boys, with colorless skin and flabby flesh. The anxious parents of such youths consult their doctor, who well knows that they need no medicine, but some attention to the development of their bodies, and rest for their brains. To meet the wants of these over-worked boys as well as others who need it, our friend Dr. J. T. Rothrock, Wilkesbarre, Pa., will open on May 1st a "School of Physical Culture," in a wild locality on "North Mountain," Pa. The boys will live in camp fashion, and have camp fare; they will have practice in all physical exercises, such as rowing, shooting, gymnastics, mountain climbing, and whatever will tend to develop their strength. At the same time they will be instructed in geology, botany, and other branches of natural history; taught to take and record meteorological observations; surveying, and other field studies. Physical culture will have the chief attention, and study be allowed only so far as it may be beneficial. Aside from the improvement in health that must result from four months of open air life, a boy will learn to observe, and acquire much knowledge that can be learned in no other way, and which will hereafter be of great use. Dr. Rothrock is a skilled surgeon and physician, an accomplished naturalist; being a traveller and explorer of wide experience, he is accustomed to the wilds, and moreover has the tact and ability to control others in such a position.

SOMETHING TO NOTE.—The country will certainly believe that the expenses of the Government can be greatly reduced without detriment to the public service. An examination of the "Blue Book," published by authority of law, has just been made by the New York Sun, and some of the facts which it discloses given to its readers. The figures show that the number of office-holders in the State, Treasury, Interior, War, Navy, Justice, and Post-Office Departments and Congress was as follows in the years specified:

UNDER LINCOLN.		UNDER GRANT.
1861, total	46,049	1869, total	54,207
1863, total	47,375	1871, total	57,605
1865, total	53,167	1873, total	80,637
		1875, total	94,119

Mr. Lincoln's administration covered the entire period of the civil war, when the exigencies of the public service were extraordinary of necessity. Why should the number of Government attaches be greater during a like number of years in a time of peace? This is a question, that needs a stratghtforward answer.—S. F. Call.

Tilden's Acceptance.

The Committee of Democrats from the St. Louis Convention, of which its President, General McClernard of Illinois was chosen Chairman, waited upon Governor Tilden in New York city on the evening of July 11th, and informed him officially of his nomination for President of the United States. Mr. Tilden is reported by telegraph to have said:

General McClernard and Gentlemen of the Committee: I shall at the earliest convenience prepare and transmit to you my formal acceptance of the nomination which you now tender to me in behalf of the Democratic National Convention, and I do not desire on this occasion to anticipate any topic which might be appropriate to that communication. It may be, however, permitted to me to say that my nomination was not a mere personal preference between citizens and statesmen of this Republic, who might very well have been chosen for so distinguished an honor and for so august a duty. It was rather a declaration of that sentiment in whose behalf you speak in favor—of administrative reform—with which recent events have associated me in the public mind; reform in all branches of Government, and especially in the administration of the Federal Government, to which they have been consenting witnesses. Therefore, if your choice should be ratified by the people at the election, I should enter upon the great duties which would fall upon me, not as a holiday recreation, but very much in that spirit of consecration in which a soldier enters a battle. [Applause.] But let us believe, as I do believe, that we now see the dawn of a better day for our country, and that difficult as is the work to which the Democratic party, with many allies and former members of other parties, has addressed itself, the Republic is yet to be renovated, to live in all the future, and to be transmitted to future generations as Jefferson contributed to form it in his day, and in which he has been ever since until a recent period, a blessing to the whole country. [Applause.]

It would be unnatural, gentlemen, if a popular movement so genuine and so powerful, should stop with one and a half millions of Democrats; that it should not extend the contagion to that large mass of independent voters who stand between the parties in our country, and to a portion of the party under whose charge the Administration to be corrected has grown up. Perhaps in what we have witnessed there may be an augury in respect to what we may witness in the election about to take place throughout our country. At least let us hope so, and believe so. I am not without experience of the difficulty and labor of effecting administrative reform, when it requires a revolution in politics, and in measures long established in Government. If I were to judge by the year and a half in which I have been in the State Government, I should say that the routine duties of the trust I have had imposed on me are a small burden compared with that created by the attempt to change the policy of the Government, which needs executive head. Especially is this so when the reform is to be worked out with more or less of the co-operation of public officers who either have been tainted with the evils to be redressed, or have been incapacitated for reform by habit, or toleration of wrongs to be corrected.

Gentlemen, I thank you for the very kind terms in which you have made your communication, and extend to you, collectively and individually, the most cordial greeting.

THE YARYAN CASE.—An attempt has been made by the apologists of the Administration to make it appear that Yaryan was properly dismissed by the President for having been guilty of corruption. The story is to the effect that he drew up a report concerning whisky frauds in St. Louis, and then took it to the whisky thieves and agreed to suppress it for $17,000. This story would, no doubt, be a sufficient justification for the discharge of Yaryan if it happened to be true, but unfortunately for the friends of the Administration, it embodies an utterly false accusation. The truth is that this charge was preferred against Yaryan, and was investigated by Commissioner Pratt, who ascertained that it was false. There is, however, some substratum of truth in the statement, though it in no way affects the reputation of Yaryan. The facts, as developed by official inquiry, are, that one Brasher, a revenue officer who had been employed with Yaryan, discovered that the latter had written a report involving the St. Louis whisky ring, purloined the document from Yaryan's office, and took it to the ring, who paid him a large sum for a perusal of it, which, of course, enabled them to take precautionary measures. The report was then returned to Yaryan's office, and he, not knowing that it had been taken and read in the manner described, forwarded it to Washington, where it now lies among the records of the Treasury Department. Brasher absconded with his ill-gotten gains, and is at present an indicted fugitive. As to Yaryan, it is sufficient to point out that if the whisky ring had possessed such a hold upon him as the knowledge that he had taken a $17,000 bribe, he never could have pushed through the St. Louis whisky trials to a successful termination, as he did. The defenders of Grant will have to hunt some other explanation of the dismissal of Yaryan, for the bribery charges will not hold water.—Sacramento Record.

TUNNELING THE BRITISH CHANNEL. A special commission, appointed by last year's French Assembly, has declared that the work of tunneling the channel is of public utility, and all the engineering and examination thus far go to show that it is entirely practicable. The distance is twenty-three miles, and the greatest depth of water is less than 200 feet, and the slope is so gentle that there is no probability of a single break in the immense chalk stratum which serves as the bed of the channel. But the English are shy of the project, as they were of the Suez Canal. They are disposed to look on and see their enterprising neighbors run all the risk and do all the work, while they stand ready to pocket the profits of the undertaking. It is the safe way, and it is characteristically English.

NATIONAL Democratic Nominations.

FOR PRESIDENT:

SAMUEL J. TILDEN,

OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT:

THOS. A. HENDRICKS,

OF INDIANA.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION

By virtue of resolution, and pursuant to adjournment, the members of the Democratic State Convention will meet at UNION HALL, in the city and county of San Francisco on WEDNESDAY, the 26th day of July instant, for the purpose of nominating Presidential Electors.

J. R. BEARD,
W. H. MILLER,
jy13 Secretaries of Convention.

Hayes Not a Reformer.

Mr. Hayes in his letter of acceptance fully and heartily endorses the Administration of Grant, and also the platform of the Radicals adopted at Cincinnati, one section of which reads as follows:

"The National Administration merits commendation for its honorable work in the management of domestic and foreign affairs, and President Grant deserves the continued and hearty gratitude of the American people for his patriotism and his eminent services in war and peace."

How is it possible for a man who endorses the present Administration to become a true reformer? The proposition is in itself inconsistent. There is too much "all things to all men" in Mr. Hayes' position and attitude. The party has become so utterly corrupt and rotten that it cannot be purified—to use an old expression, saltpetre cannot save it. Putrefaction has set in, and it has become offensive to everyone. New men with better principles must take the place of those who have become so offensive to the people who elected them and who have befouled and disgraced the offices they have occupied. Mr. Hayes also proposes to keep in power the host of office-holders who are so distasteful and dishonest, and yet pretends that he will bring about reform. As well might he undertake to Christianize the Chinese among us. The task, even if undertaken, would fail of accomplishment, because it is impossible in the nature of things. The Republican party had an opportunity to nominate a true and tried Reformer in the person of Mr. Bristow, but the more venal portion of the Convention prevailed and he was defeated. Mr. Bristow was recognized by the better portion of the Republican party as a Reformer, and was thrown overboard. Mr. Hayes is admitted to be a "compromise candidate," and one who, as we said before, will be all things to all men, or in other words, anything to win. Under these circumstances we see no other way open for those who do desire reform in the Administration than to vote for Tilden and Hendricks. By this means alone can they help to carry out this much to be desired change.

LUTTRELL.—The Delegates from this District to the Convention to assemble in San Francisco next week for the nomination of Presidential Electors, will also nominate a Congressman for the district, and will, we have no doubt, renominate Hon. J. K. Luttrell, our present member, than whom the State never had a more faithful representative. His votes have been consistently in line with his promises, as the record proves, and he has been an indefatigable worker for the interests of this Coast. Mr. Luttrell is withal a pioneer reformer who early scented the corruptions of the Administration, showed them up in all their hideous deformity, so far as exposed at that time, and "went for them" without gloves. He has caught some of the evil-doers, is still on their track, and will not let up as long as one remains.

HAVE COME OUT FOR TILDEN.—Both the Chicago Times and the St. Louis Republican, which have been "off" toward the Democracy since Greeley's nomination, have come back and declared themselves for the Democratic nominees. The New York Methodist, a paper of extended circulation, speaks approvingly of Governor Tilden's course against the "corruptionists," and will doubtless favor him so far as it supports either candidate.

WORLD OF FASHION.—Burdette Smith's World of Fashion, Fine Arts and Polite Literature for June is to hand. The present number, like its predecessors, is superbly illustrated and well filled with a full quantity of matter particularly suited to the ladies. Published at 16 East 14th street, New York, at 25 cents per number or $3 a year, including at the least $2 worth of patterns for articles of dress.

HEARD FROM.—Considerable anxiety has been felt for General Crook and his command since the Custer Massacre. It turns out that they are all right and that a provision train had just reached them when the courier left, July 12th. The news is that reinforcements have since reached him and that now they will "go for" Mr. Indian and drive him "beyond the wall."

Rotation in Office a Jacksonian Principle.

A THOROUGH AND RADICAL CHANGE DESIRABLE, BECAUSE BENEFICIAL AND EXPECTED BY THE PEOPLE.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:—The twaddle of Gov. Hays upon the subject of civil service reform, in his letter of acceptance, makes an article upon rotation in office peculiarly opportune at this time. The corruptions of the Republican Party have become so grave, and embezzlement so common among its officers, that this party, in its platform, demands a change of system; and Mr. Hayes, together with a large majority of the Republicans, have come to the conclusion that in order to correct this dishonesty in high places one of the cardinal principles of a representative democracy must be entirely ignored.

The immediate responsibility of every official agent in the government to the people, so far as practicable, is a chief corner stone in our grand political fabric. The opposite is an infamous doctrine to inculcate in a democracy: that "the further the tenure of an office is removed from the people the more righteously will the incumbent exercise the functions of his office. It is a dearly esteemed principle by every lover of a democratic form of government, that the power inherent in and derived from the people should frequently and at stated periods return to them, to be by them again bestowed upon whomsoever they can trust and desire to honor, by the free and enlightened exercise of the elective franchise. The people, in our method of elections, exercise true sovereignty in its highest and grandest functions. On that day they take back and re-grant to their official agents their sovereign powers. These powers are granted for limited periods of time. It is a wholesome notice to office-holders that the people are the source of all power, and unless fidelity be the characteristics of their agents their official career will terminate. It is the doctrine of monarchies and tyrants "that officials should be above and beyond the reach of the people—that the officer should hold place by a tenure that the people can not disturb in order to make him honest—to enable him to exercise his official functions without fear, favor or control."

These arguments were offered by the enemies and answered by the friends of our Republic at the time of its establishment. They believed that a President limited to a term of four years, a Senator to six, a Congressman to two, and Governor, Legislators and other officers for short terms, was a desirable system; that a frequent and close responsibility to the people was the best security for the honesty and faithfulness of the public servant. They had experienced the results of a life tenure of office. They believed the enormities and oppressions resulting from the old system justified the inauguration of a revolution, and in behalf of these principles "pledged their lives, their fortune and their sacred honor," and fought so heroically for them as to win us a name and place among the nations of the earth. No student of history can help but know that the tenure of office was one of the changes resulting from American Independence. The Federal Judiciary holds office for life or during good behaviour; but this last remnant of despotism is fast dying out.

In regard to those holding office of honor or profit by appointment, we unhesitatingly say they should be retired at the end of the term of those from whom they hold their places. In our theory of government the people will always be divided into political parties. These parties announce their political creeds and the electors select those parties and men whom they believe will best secure the perpetuity of our institutions and their own material prosperity. There may be but small, or there may be great differences between parties; but an honest people should be desirous of having those men placed in position who could and would most effectively carry out the details of their party platform. Those who are the most important to give vitality and efficiency to measures in our Government hold their position by appointment. These constitute a vast army in the United States, being in number about eighty-five thousand. This immense force, who manage the details of our official system, can, if disposed, make any measure unpopular, no difference how good or popular for a time, no matter how corrupt and impolitic. The people may desire to try a change of policy, and so express themselves through the ballot-box, yet if the grand army of employés of the various officers be kept in place, they can defeat this expressed will by opposition. The more familiar they are with the routine of business of the office, the more effective can be their opposition. To illustrate: Suppose the Tilden Administration makes a change in our tariff system, would it not be the part of fools to keep in the custom houses the present high tariff advocates, who could not only make the workings of a revenue tariff a failure, but render a good system unpopular by their effective opposition? With the men who now surround Gen. Grant, how could Tilden or Hayes make any reform or punish any violation of the revenue laws by the Whiskey Rings?

History affords us still another illustration: When General Jackson was elected President of the United States he was elected for his known opposition to the United States Bank. He gathered a Cabinet around him, and they, not doing what he desired of them, he dismissed them. When the Secretary of the Treasury refused to remove the deposits from the Bank, he turned him out and appointed one that did do it. He discovered during his administration the absolute necessity of the doctrine "To THE VICTORS BELONG THE SPOILS." No one ever charged Jackson with dishonesty. He was the last man who would tolerate peculation or embezzlement from even the most zealous friend. He would have almost throttled and choked to death an official under him whom he discovered stealing from the public treasury, and yet he announced the dogma "to the victors belong the spoils." His doctrine was, that the necessary appointments to places of trust and honor belong to the dominant party; to those attached to the principles of the Administration then elected. Not that they might steal from the public funds, but by their aid to better carry out the political views of the party in power as expressed by the people at the ballot-box. Jackson's doctrine was, that any officer who did not give them the full benefit of their victory was a traitor to his trust—was a villian, who after he had led them on to victory, turned round and gave away all the triumphs won, all the spoils—legitimate spoils of victory. The true doctrine is to give the whole administration, from the highest to the lowest, into the hands of those who advocated and effected the change. It is no new principle, but as old as parties and as natural as it is just. Is any party so foolish as to reward those who has opposed its advancement? Is any party so idiotic as to give its enemies the means to defeat that party at a coming election? Do individuals act in this manner in common business? No man is worthy of an appointment who has no political opinions. He cannot be a good citizen and not feel an interest in the politics of his country. He cannot intelligently carry out any measure unless he has studied it in detail. The man who will suddenly change to get an office is also unworthy. A trimmer is a despicable fraud, and no man unless he can show a consistent course should be appointed. Men who are luke-warm, or office-seekers—place hunters—ought to be "spewed out of the mouth," as they usually are. If a party wants to continue its vitality, let none have place unless he really is attached to the principles of the party to which he gives his adherence. In what manner would a Presidential Elector be esteemed who betrayed his trust and voted for a candidate different from the one whom he was pledged in honor to support? He would be esteemed a base traitor and be anothamatized as such by all parties.

How have the Administrations that pursued any other course than to give appointments to their own friends been treated in this State? It was not long since we witnessed one of these milk and water administrations, and it lasted barely four years. No sound statesman ought to vote for a candidate for Governor, Secretary of State, Controller, Surveyor-General or any other officer who controls patronage, that does not carry out his pledges to give all the places under him to men of his own political opinions. It is not enough that these applicants voted for one or two officers on the ticket, for, perhaps, personal agrandisement; but they ought to be of sound political belief throughout. Let not a clerk, nor even an usher, a janitor or porter be kept in place because he says he has no political belief, only a longing for place. The people expect this change, and he is no true leader who does not follow the Jacksonian doctrine of sweeping clean. The majority has enough and good enough men to fill all places.

The general going into battle would be a fool to place in command those of his enemies whom he had captured. Such "statesmen" do not understand the theory of our system. Rotation—change—responsibility to the people;—these are sound principles. It is argued, "oh change heads of departments, but not subordinate places!" Why, subordinate places run the government; and are we to say to our young men, "You shall have no ambitions gratified, you shall have nothing to do with the government—with the 85,000 appointments—until the old appointees die off." It is a false principle and must destroy any administration that adopts it. Out upon it. We will have none of it. Change, and get honest men in place. Short settlements make long friends. Clean out the stable, Mr. Tilden. If we thought you would not, we would not vote for you. We may have more to say hereafter on this subject. INDEX.

WINTERS ADVOCATE.—Our readers have been informed that the paper published at Winters has changed hands. Last Saturday's issue came out with the names of Tilden and Hendricks at its head and a "salutatory" announcing that "in politics the Advocate will be Democratic, etc., which is borne out by the general tone of its articles. Its aim is also announced to be to build up the general interests of the town and county. With such laudable purposes we hope our cotemporary will succeed. If it does succeed, however, it must be by the support of Democrats, now that it has espoused their cause. Fellow Democrats, stand by your paper at all hazards.

WHAT THEY MEANT.—The Radicals declared in their platform that they were, as ever, opposed to subsidies to corporations. To show what they meant by this resolution, remarks the New York Day Book, they have nominated a man for Vice-President who, as Chairman of the Pacific Railroad Committee, reported all manner of subsidy jobs, and was one of the most active leaders in forcing them all upon the attention of Congress. So to the end the Radical practice turns its back in contempt on Radical professions.

How Should Independents Vote?

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:—Between the General and the Judicial elections in the year 1873, there was held in Sacramento a Convention, composed of delegates of both Democratic and Republican antecedents. The fact, however, is notorious, that a majority of those delegates had been Republicans. That Convention, by a unanimous vote, adopted a platform which among other things contained the resolutions following:

Resolved, That we are determined to use all lawful efforts to drive out the corrupt political rings that control the action of the National Government, wielding its power and dispensing its patronage with the sole end of benefiting themselves and their hangers-on, and of perpetuating their vicious rule; and to that end we hereby and for all time instruct all representatives of the people elected under the auspices of the People's Independent Party to urge and enforce a strict examination into the affairs and management of the great railroad corporations of the country as well as of their auxiliaries, the Credit-Mobelier, and Contract and Finance Companies, and their several dealings with the various departments of the Government, Executive, Legislative and Judicial, in order that their past corrupt practices may be exposed, the rights and property of the people recovered, the guilty punished and purity and economy in administration restored throughout the land.

Resolved, That we are pledged to a thorough reform of the civil service of the country to the end that capacity, honesty and fitness, and not political zeal and partisanship, shall be the only indispensable qualifications for place. And especially we utterly oppose the pernicious custom, now so common and so productive of evil, of the interference of federal officials with State and local politics. And we denounce the law passed at the last session of Congress known as the back pay steal, as a shame and disgrace to American legislation.

Resolved, That we take ground against the present tariff, believing that it is the resnlt of a dishonest and corrupt system of bargaining in Congress, whereby each interest seeking protection conspires with all other interests to support them in their claim, to the great injury of the cause of good government and to the loss of the people who are taxed thereby.

The Convention by which the foregoing resolutions were passed, nominated Elisha W. McKinstry for Justice of the Supreme Court. The Convention which nominated John Bidwell in 1875 reaffirmed the platform containing the foregoing resolutions. It cannot, therefore, be said that the interim did not afford ample time for mature deliberation.

The aims of the Independents may be summed up in the single word "reform." The platforms and candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties are before us. The Republicans are for and the Democrats against a protective tariff. The Republicans laud and the Democrats denounce Grant's Administration.

Reforms cannot be had except by electing reformers. Bristow, the most prominent reformer known of in the Republican ranks, has failed to receive the Republican nomination for the Presidency. Tilden, the most prominent reformer known in the Democratic ranks, has received, even under the operation of the two-thirds rule, the Democratic nomination for the Presidency.

In view, therefore, of the facts, I submit for the candid consideration of all who voted for McKinstry or Bidwell, the question following:

To be consistent with the platform which they adopted in 1873 and reaffirmed in 1875, how should Independents vote?"

INDEPENDENT VOTER.

MORE BLOOD-LETTING. — Zach. Chandler, the celebrated Bull Run blood-letting Congressman, now Secretary of the Interior Department under Grant, has been chosen Chairman of the National Republican Committee. He is just the man, backed by the other Radical leeches of the Administration, to demand still "a little more blood-letting" in the South in order to obtain votes in that section for Hayes next Fall. It will not surprise us if this turns out to be a part of the programme.

H. B. PENDEGAST,
Secretary Finance Committee.

STILL COMPLAINING.—The correspondent referred to last week as complaining because we did not mention the turn out of "Porter & Co." in speaking of the Fourth of July procession comes at us again without signing any name, which is of course contrary to all usage, and we would therefore be justified in not noticing the communication, but do so to humor the writer and because the required "apology" was promised if he would inform us who constituted the firm of Porter & Co. We are told it is A. D. Porter. That gentleman himself long ago informed us that his firm was "A. D. Porter," and has so advertised his house in this paper for at least two or three years, and does at the present time. Our apology is simply that we did not happen to think of that particular part of the procession when writing up the items. And now we will say, once for all, that hereafter no attention will be paid to communications not bearing the author's name. The only apology due from us in this connection is to Mr. A. D. Porter for mentioning his name at all without his consent.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.—Yesterday afternoon about four o'clock Marshal Thomas observed at some distance an inebriated individual lying on some grains acks beside Freeman's store, and saw that a couple of strangers were eying him closely. This put the Marshal to watching their manoeuvres, when he soon discovered that they were "going through" the drunken man. Witnesses were plenty, and this will make conviction certain. The thieves were both arrested and taken to jail. They cut one pocket out and obtained $1.75. In attempting to pull out his watch the chain gave way and before they succeeded in getting it they were arrested. The proof seems to be so clear against these parties that it will be likely to go hard with them. The Marshal is deserving of credit for the shrewdness displayed in this affair.

RED MEN'S ELECTION.—At a meeting of the Shawnee Tribe I. O. R. M. on Tuesday evening July 18th, F. E. Baker was reëlected Sachem, S. W. Stollings was elected Senior Sagamore and F. E. Hadsell Jr. Sagamore. The following were elected as Delegates to the Great Council to meet in San Francisco on Friday July 25th: J. C. Ball, Jason Watkins, Wm. Saunders, A. C. Kean. The raising up of Chiefs will take place on Sunday next at 9 A.M., under the direction of District Deputy Klays, of Davisville.

SMALL POX.—We regret that we have to announce that there is a case of this disease in Woodland, but it is in a very light form, and it is hoped and believed, from the precautions taken, that the disease will not spread. The case is a child of Dr. Geo. H. Jackson, and the disease was contracted in San Francisco. We are informed the Dr. has removed his child to an isolated house so as to prevent the spread of the disease. A note from him appears in these columns.

THROWN OFF.—On Sunday last Jesse Webber fell from a horse he was riding and was severely injured. He has already left the Dr's care and will probably soon be riding the same horse again.

Compliment to Winters Democratic Club.

SACRAMENTO, JULY 15th, 1876.

TO JUDGE HULSE AND OTHER MEMBERS OF DEMOCRATIC CLUB, WINTERS, YOLO COUNTY, CAL.:—GENTLEMEN:—I take the liberty of dicating to your Club, it being one of the first organized since the nominations, a campaign song, which is simply a parody upon "Auld Lang Syne." The tune is familiar to all and it seems appropriate, in these dark and dishonest times, to urge our people not to forget "the days of lang syne," but cling to the party and the principles by which our government was so long and so prosperously administered.

That you may prosper as a Club, and prosper as individuals, and be largely instrumental in promoting the election of Tilden and Hendricks at the coming contest, is the earnest wish of your friend and fellow-Democrat.

It would perhaps not be improper to add that I feel a deep interest in the welfare of Yolo county, having corresponded for the YOLO DEMOCRAT during the last three Legislative sessions and occasionally at other times.

JAMES GALLOWAY.

PARODY. TUNE "AULD LANG SYNE."
[Democratic Campaign Song.]

Should auld acquaintance be forgot
And never brought to min',
Should good officials be forgot
And days lang syne?
For auld lang syne, my men,
For auld lang syne,
We'll vote for Democrats again
For auld lang syne.

Come join the Democratic cause,
Nor falter in the line,
Stand by your country and her laws
For auld lang syne;
For auld lang syne my men, etc.

Let Hendricks, Tilden and Reform,
Our battle-cry still be,
With these our country's foes we'll storm
And yet be free;
For auld lang syne my men, etc.

The knaves and thieves we rule the land
We'll drive from out their place,
And each official rogue we'll brand
With deep disgrace;
For all lang syne my men, etc.

Then, freemen, rouse! Unite your voice
Against your country's foes,
And make the land once more rejoice
And bloom the rose.
For auld lang syne my men, etc.

And here's a hand my trusty friend,
And gie's a hand o' thine,
The way we'll whip them will be queer
As in lang syne.
For auld lang syne, true men,
For auld lang syne,
We'll vote the party yet again
As in lang syne. J. G.

"SPIRIT POWER IN THE LIGHT."—These words head a circular of the celebrated J. E. Davenport, spirit medium, who assisted by others will give an entertainment at Central Hall to-morrow (Friday) evening, July 21st, when some of his wounderful manifestations will be witnessed. A free partial entertainment was given on Tuesday evening, and the performance is spoken of as wonderful by those who witnessed it. To-morrow evening at Central Hall.

LIBERAL PROPOSITION.—Mr. Theodore Winters, of this county, after whom the village of Winters was named, and who is extensively interested in the State of Nevada, has, as we learn from the Reno Journal, made the Methodists an offer of forty acres of good land on Ophir Creek, with a two-story dwelling-house and two store-houses thereon, and $5,000 in money, on condition that they locate their proposed Seminary in Washoe Valley.

NO ARRANGEMENT.—The Board of Supervisors on Monday visited the breaks in the road near Washington, caused by the encroachments of the river, but have not as yet agreed upon an appropriation or any method of repairs. It is undoubtedly due to the residents along the river that by some means the roads be made passable. A large number of tax-payers, owning a very large amount of property, are interested.

FINE CALENDAR.—Messrs. Crocker & Co., printers and stationers, 401 and 403 Sansome street, San Francisco, have our thanks for a copy of their counting house calendar, just published. It is the best calendar we have ever seen, and comes from the best printing house of our acquaintance on this coast.

AUCTION.—An Administrator's sale of the personal effects of the late Robert Fox, consisting of a lot of horses, hogs, harness, farming implements, bacon, household furniture, etc., will take place in Oat Hollow Saturday July 29th, commencing at 10 A.M.

POPULAR.—The New Haven Register declares that no nomination since the days of Jackson has met with such acceptance in Connecticut as that of Tilden, and says he will carry that State by at least 9,000 majority.

CHANGE OF AGENCY.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Associated Country Press in San Francisco, July 3d T. A. Glancey resigned as agent, and C. W. Crane was appointed to fill the vacancy.

LAND AGENCY.—We have received the June number of this pamphlet which gives a great deal of information of value to those seeking homes. J. D. Lawson is the agent for Yolo.

TELEGRAPH OFFICE.—The telegraph office has finally been moved back to within a few feet of its old quarters, adjoining Read & Forrester's store, a more central and better location.

WHEAT.—A good deal is being brought in by farmers, some of which is sold and some stored. The price paid here is $1.35 per cental.

AUCTION.—Read the notice of R. R. Darby's auction sale on Saturday, August 5th.

To the Public.

WOODLAND, July 18th, 1876.

Having a case of small pox in my family, I deem it prudent to abandon my practice until such time as I can resume charge without endangering the public. Through the kindness of Dr. Terrell, of Sacramento, Dr. Herriman, of the latter place, and lately of New York, will occupy my office and attend to my practice until notice is given to the contrary.

Respectfully,
GEO. H. JACKSON, M. D.

SUICIDE OF J. D. DALY.—We learn from the Record-Union that on Monday afternoon the dead body of John D. Daly, who has for many years resided in and near Woodland, was discovered in his room over the Dexter Stables, in Sacramento. Two vials were found under his pillow, one containing strychnine, the other chloroform. A post mortem examination was made by Dr. Fisher, which revealed the fact that he had taken a large dose of strychnine, undissolved crystals being found in his stomach. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict that death resulted from a dose of strychnine administered by himself. Deceased was about 71 years of age. We are not aware that he had any family living except the stepson referred to in the following letters found upon a table in his room:

SACRAMENTO, July 15th, 1876.

Friends H. O. White and R. Preston: I leave you a disagreeable task. It is the last favor I shall ever ask. I owe no one anything. My rent is paid to J. Woods up to the 2d of August. Now farewell. My best wishes to all. J. D. DALY.

The note to the Coroner read as follows:

SACRAMENTO, July 15th, 1876.

Please notify R. Preston and H. O. White of my demise; they will take charge of my body and the things in the room, as most of them belong to other parties, and they know who they belong to. Now, if it is compatible with your official duty, hold the inquest here. I wish no more publicity than possible. The proof of my death is before you; as for the cause, that belongs to me. The world has no business with it. Yours respectfully,
J. D. DALY.

WINTERS ITEMS.—The Advocate of the 15th says: The races of the Yolo and Solano Jockey Club will come off over the splendid race track of Theodore Winters on Saturday next. [It may be, however, that the management do not want the fact known by horsemen throughout the county, as they have failed to advertise the races in the Woodland papers; still we take the liberty of mentioning it gratuitously.].....A gentleman who made a trial trip from the Knoxville Quicksilver Mines to Winters made a saving of four hours from the time required in going to Napa—this way over an easy grade, the other over mountains. He was more than satisfied.....A new 40x60-foot warehouse is in course of construction by Hill Bros.....The new church of the Cumberland Presbyterians was dedicated on Sunday last.....At a meeting of the Democratic Club by-laws were reported by the Committee to be acted on at next meeting.....A Democratic Club has been organized at Vacaville.....A Bank is set down as among the hoped-for "coming events."..... 1300 tons of wheat have been shipped this season. An immense quantity is being received daily at the Grangers' warehouse..... Shipments of fruit are quite heavy.

COMMUNICATIONS.—We ask a perusal of the communication "Rotation in Office a Jeffersonian Principle." It contains a great deal of sound argument, especially applicable at this time. Our readers are also referred to the article headed "How Should 'Independents' Vote?" written by one who was last year a prominent member of the Independent party in this county. Both articles will well repay perusal.

PERSONAL.—Dr. Herriman, who publishes a card in this issue, will attend to Dr. Jackson's practice until further notice. Dr. Herriman comes recommended by Dr. Terrill, of Sacramento. He wishes us to state that he has not come in contact with the case of smallpox in Dr. Jackson's family, in order to remove any fears that might exist on that score.

HEAVY LOSS.—Fire has destroyed $1,000 worth of wheat near Dixon belonging to Mr. Miller, President of the Bank of Dixon. Another fire in the same vicinity lately destroyed a large quantity of wheat.

VACCINATE.—Everyone should at once attend to the important matter of vaccination as a precautionary measure. It may, as it has in thousands of cases, be the means of saving life.

ICE-CREAM.—Cuthbert's Centennial ice-cream saloon is again open to the public and George says he expects to keep it going right along hereafter. He gets up a real nice article.

A Fragrant Breath and Pearly Teeth

Are easily obtained by cleansing your teeth daily with that justly popular dentifrice, SOZODONT. Composed of rare antiseptic herbs, it imparts whiteness to the teeth, a delicious aroma to the breath, and preserves intact, from youth to old age, the teeth. Acidity of the stomach will destroy the strongest teeth unless its effects are counteracted with SOZODONT, and this pure toothwash protects the dental surfaces by removing every impurity that adheres to them. Ask your druggist for SOZODONT.

UNLIKE other cathartics, Dr. Pierce's Pellets do not render the bowels costive after operation, but, on the contrary, establish a permanently healthy action. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. Sold by druggists.

THOSE two foes of bodily comfort, Rheumatism and the Gout, cease their twinges, if the affected part is daily washed with GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, which banishes pain and renders the joints and muscles supple and elastic.

A FACT worth remembering. Five cents' worth of "Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders," given to a horse twice a week, will save double that amount in grain, and the horse will be fatter, sleeker, and every way worth more money than though he did not have them.

MARRIED LADIES, under all circumstances, will find "Parson's Purgative Pills" safe; and, in small doses, a mild cathartic. They cause no griping pains or cramp.

FOR TILDEN.—Senator Booth is reported to have declined the nomination for Vice-President on the Peter Cooper Greenback Ticket, and to have come out squarely in favor of Tilden and Hendricks. Ex-Governor John M. Palmer, a prominent Independent of Illinois, declares himself entirely satisfied with the St. Louis ticket, and promises to support it. Ex-Senator Trumbull, of the same State, well-known as a very prominent Liberal, has offered his services in support of the ticket. A number of prominent Republicans of Butte county have expressed their determination to vote the Democratic ticket. Besides these and hundreds of other instances mentioned throughout the country, there are some we know of right here at home who opposed the Democracy last year who are now with us, notably amongst them Judge James Johnson, who ran on the Independent ticket for County Judge. So many thus early, before the campaign can hardly be said to have opened.

FOREIGN OPINIONS.—The London (England) Standard has this to say of the political situation in this country: "The Republicans have disgraced themselves—first by the systematic misrule, jobbery, and dishonesty of fourteen years; next by the decision which virtually binds them to cling to their past course. The election of Mr. Hayes would be the triumph of proven and convicted immorality and profligacy, not because the man himself is guilty, but because he represents and is supported by the guilty of his party, The victory of such a Democrat as Tilden would be the first step to the reassertion of such purity and honesty as are consistent with American institutions and compatible with a Government based on universal suffrage." The Times also talks in the same strain. These foreign opinions cannot affect directly, but they are "straws" nevertheless.

FASTEST TIME.—The best trotting time ever made by a stallion was on the 15th instant at Philadelphia by "Smuggler" against "Judge Fullerton." Four heats were trotted—the second being a dead heat. The other three were won by "Smuggler." The best time made was 2:17, the fastest for a stallion on record. The owner refused $100,000 for the winning horse after the race.

LIBEL.—The suit instituted by Judge Braynard against the proprietor of the Tehama Tocsin for $10,000, resulted in a verdict for plaintiff for $125, which the Tocsin thinks may seem strange, in view of the fact that the people at the polls sustained the utterance of the paper by defeating Judge Braynard for reëlection.

NEW OFFICE.—Dr. Parramore and J. C. Ball, Esq., have rented the Bank Exchange building, which they will fit up and occupy for offices.

Travelers! Attention!

You cannot have a better vade tecum on your journey than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. That prime medicinal agent will enable you to drink brackish water without running the risk of disordered stomach and bowels, will neutralize the influence of foul or miasmatic air, and will prove a most agreeable and wholesome stimulant and means of counteracting the fatigues of traveling. On long sea voyages, where the crews of whaling or other vessels are almost wholly restricted to salt meat, it has proved an admirable preventive of scurvy, and in the tropical seas it saves the sailor from ship fever and malaria. It has ever proved the surest reliance of the emigrant, exposed to the miasmatic complaints which prevail in regions of country newly cleared of timber, where the rays of the sun falling on stagnant vegetation, unexposed to them perhaps since the creation, exhale vapors, laden with the seeds of disease.

Acclimation, or the habituation of the constitution to the peculiarities of an unaccustomed climate, is greatly facilitated by the regular use of this protective elixir, which imparts such vigor and elasticity to every nerve and fiber that it is impossible for the vital energies to become depressed to a point inconsistent with health. In unfavorable conditions of the atmophere the Bitters should be used at least twice a-day, morning and evening being the best times. A pursuance of this course when there is danger, as the system develops evidences of debility, will effectually neutralize the peril.

AITKEN & LUCE

Make the following proposition to those who wish Monuments or Headstones, and who come to the City for the express purpose of selecting.

We will pay the R.R. fare both ways when the distance and amount of purchase compare with the following table:

$50 00	Contract—	30	miles or	less.
$75.00	"	40	"	"
$100.00	"	50	"	"
$250.00	"	75	"	"
$500.00	"	150	"	"
$1,000.00	"	200	"	"

Thus giving purchasers the opportunity of making their selections, instead of dealing with inexperienced canvassers.

Cut this out and bring it with you, and after you have made your purchase, present it, and we will give you credit for your R. R. fare both ways.

We wish it distinctly understood that we work any kind of marble desired, and as low as the lowest.

The Yolo Democrat.

Thursday, July 20th, 1876.

A Pastoral.

The following poem, by A. J. Mundy, a hitherto unknown English poet, is one of the most beautiful things we have seen in years. It is not only exquisitely sweet, natural and easy in its flow, but it is a marvel in the way of versification. Observe the wonderfully ingenious manner in which certain words of the first stanza are made to rhyme with the corresponding words of the second, and so on with the third and fourth, etc.

I sat with Doris, the shepherd maiden;
Her crook was laden with wreathed flowers;
I sat and wooed her through sunlight wheeling,
And shades stealing for hours and hours.

And she, my Doris, whose lap inclosed
Wild Summer roses of rare perfume,
The while I sued her, kept hushed and hearkened
Till shadows had darkened from gloss to gloom.

She touched my shoulder with fearful finger;
She said, "We linger; we must not stay;
My flock's in danger, my sheep will wander;
Behold them yonder—how far they stray!"

I answered bolder, "Nay, let me hear you,
And still be near you, and still adore;
Nor wolf nor stranger will touch one yearling;
Ah! stay my darling, a moment more."

She whispered, sighing, "There will be sorrow
Beyond to-morrow, if I lose to-day;
My fold unguarded, my flock unfolded
I shall be scolded and sent away.

Said I, replying, "If they do miss you,
They ought to kiss you when you get home;
And well rewarded my friend and neighbor
Should be the labor from which you come."

They might remember," she answered meekly,
"That lambs are weakly and sheep are wild:
If they love me, it's none so fervent:
I am a servant, and not a child."

Then each hot ember glowed quick within me,
And love did win me to swift reply;
"Ah! do but prove me, and none shall blind you
Nor fray, nor find you, until I die."

She blushed and started, and stood awaiting,
As if debating in dreams divine;
But I did brave them—I told her plainly
She doubted vainly; she must be mine.

So we twin-hearted, from all the valley
Did chase and rally the nibbling ewes,
And homeward drove them, we two together,
Through blooming heather and gleaming dews.

That simple duty from grace did lend her—
My Doris tender, my Doris true;
That I, her warder, did always bless her,
And often press her to take her due.

And now in beauty she fills my dwelling—
With love excelling and undefiled;
And love doth guard her, both fast and fervent—
No more a servant nor yet a child.

A Cooper and Booth Club has been organized in Buffalo, Indiana.

The President has re-appointed Thomas B. Shannon to be Collector of the Port of San Francisco.

The Harvard College library now contains 255,000 volumes. A large wing is being added to the present structure.

The New York papers severely censure the President for his dismissal of Jewell from the office of Postmaster General.

Santa Ana, ex-President and for a long time dictator of Mexico, died a few weeks ago in the City of Mexico, aged 84.

The House of Representatives has appropriated $300,000 for the establishment of military ports in the Sioux country.

All the Banks doing business in this State must hereafter publish semi-annual statements of their affairs, commencing with this month.

East Saturday witnessed an event never before known in Butte county, says the Mercury. The most popular Church in Chico was sold at Sheriff's sale.

C. A. Stevens, Vice-President of the Albany and Greenbush Bridge Company, has been arrested for the embezzlement of $300,000 worth of bonds of the company.

Blaine has been appointed United States Senator from Maine to fill the vacancy occasioned by the appointment of Senator Morrill as Secretary of the Treasury.

The four hundredth anniversary of Albert Durer's death was celebrated in May at Nuremberg. His tomb was decorated, an ode sung, and an address delivered.

M. G. Kellogg, M. D., has become an assistant in Dr. B. J. Smith's Smithsonian medical and phreno-physiological institute, No. 635 California street, San Francisco.

The last return of the Bank of England shows the largest accumulation of Gold on record. The total amount in the vaults is about £29,500,000, or nearly $148,000,000.

The citizens of Monroe, Michigan, General Custer's native city, have taken steps toward erecting a magnificent monument to the memory of that brave officer and his comrades.

From four hundred to five hundred acres of grain fields were last week burned over in San Joaquin county, at the junction of the Woodbridge road with the Lower Sacramento road.

Efforts are being made for the establishment of a Democratic paper in Sacramento. It is said that considerable success has been experienced and the affair is assuming a tangible form.

The Cleveland Plaindealer says: "Wm. A. Wheeler is a salary-grabber. Wm. A. Wheeler, of New York, was a member of Congress, and on the 3d of March, 1873, he voted for the back-pay steal."

At a late Democratic meeting in Tammany Hall, New York, John Kelly, who fought Tilden at the St. Louis Convention, was restored to favor, and Tilden and Hendricks resolutions passed.

Says the Oroville Mercury, we have learned that a great amount of grain was threshed out by the wind that blew so fiercely one week ago Sunday and Monday. J. F. Boden thinks that he had nearly 1,000 bushels threshed out.

Since the San Francisco hair clipping ordinance was put into operation at the County and Branch jails, Chinese criminals have become scarce. Less than one-third the usual number was brought before the Police Court the last month.

Says a dispatch from London, July 14th: Twenty-one persons were killed and sixty wounded by the explosion on board the turret ship Thunderer. Many of the wounded cannot recover. A later dispatch says it is feared twenty-six are fatally wounded.

All the Berlin papers of the 5th, conspicuously the National Gazette, have leading editorials on the Centennial of American Independence. They congratulate the Americans in the warmest terms. The Parisian journals also alluded appropriately to the event.

In Newark, New Jersey, July 13th, three Germans, brothers, being arrested for disorderly conduct, shot fatally two police officers, killed one of their former fellow laborers and wounded two others. They were chased by the workmen into the river and stoned to death.

In Shetland, which is the part of Scotland whence Shetland ponies originally came, some of the ministers live on $100 a year. They are expected to be as hardy as the ponies, and to live as cheaply. One minister, who has a wife and four children, gets about $125. There is no great rush of candidates for the ministry in Shetland.

A terrible storm prevailed over the northern part of Iowa, Tuesday night, July 5th, on the line of the Illinois Central and Davenport and St. Paul and Midland Railroads. Bridges and embankments on the Illinois Central were washed out, and there are no trains on either to-day. The village of Rockdale was washed out and fourty-four persons drowned.

An Englishman has spent over $1,000,000 trying to prove to his countrymen that every man's house is not his castle. He has built a huge castle 12 stories high, containing 250 sets of apartments, all distinct, to rent for $500 a year each. There is a common kitchen, coffee room, saloon and reading room, and the servants are supplied by the management.

The deaths in New York July 11th exceed in number those of any previous day for thirty-five years, except that of July 28, 1872, when sixty-eight were reported. Every case of sunstroke reported at the Police Office yesterday, with one or two exceptions, terminated fatally. The deaths from sunstroke on the 11th inst. are believed by officials at the Health Office to be nearly sixty.

KING'S PATENT STRAW-BURNER

The only successful Burner yet introduced that can be attached to the common Wood Burning Engines. It is easy to keep the necessary amount of steam. Boys with but little instruction have fired the whole season; in many cases the Engineer has done it and attended his Engine. They have given entire satisfaction, as the following testimonials will show:

MODESTO, October 9th, 1875.

MR. J. R. KING—Dear Sir: We have used your Attachment on our Automatic Hoadley Engine the past two seasons; it furnishes all the power necessary to run our large Pitts Separator with a Jackson Feeder attached; it more than gave satisfaction to all the farmers for whom we threshed; it required but little straw to furnish the necessary amount of steam; our engineer had a boy to fire it, and he attended the Separator and Engine; it was much safer than a wood burner, for when we wished to stop or move, all that was necessary was to close the door, and everything was perfectly safe. We used no spark arrest, as there were no sparks to arrest. It was a perfect success in every particular. Yours, etc.,
BENTLY & YOUNG.

We also refer to the following persons, from whom we received testimonials: Covert & May, Grayson; J. H. Duncan, Linden; W. H. Gilmore, Stockton; Maze Bros., Modesto; C. F. Leavensworth, Modesto.

ROCK SOAP!

ROCK SOAP is a natural product, possessing most marvelous cleansing and cosmetic properties. Besides other saponaceous substances it contains Alumina, which is more powerfully detersive than most Alkaline Soaps. Rock Soap is ascertained by analysis to have detersive properties valuable to an eminent degree for the purpose for which it is recommended, and to contain nothing injurious for such use. After using it no one will be without it. It is perfectly marvelous in its operation.

For Household Purposes.

It cleans kitchen utensils, glass, and tinware; polishes gold and silver; removes oil and grease from tables and floors. It is a great saving of time and labor.

Washing Powder.

It is unrivalled for Washing Clothes. It is not an alkali, but it softens the water, loosens the dirt, and makes washing less laborious; and leaves the clothes much whiter, without any of the injurious effects attending the use of soda and washing powder, which all contain more or less caustic properties.

It is guaranteed not to injure in the least degree the finest fabrics, and will save half the quantity of soap usually used. It saves an enormous waste in soap, and wear and tear in clothes.

For Toilet and Bath.

Rock Soap possesses remarkable cosmetic properties, without any deleterious effect upon the skin. It is perfectly harmless, and gives a vigorous and healthful tone to the skin; it restores the freshness and bloom of youth in a manner which is marvelous. It is put up with a brilliant label, and is having an immense sale. It sells itself. See quotations.
